This most northerly country in Africa is a contrast of lush valleys, grasslands and the desert landscapes of the Sahara to the south. Just off the coast is Djerba, a small mediterranean island located in the Gulf of Gabes. Its friendly and hospitable people attach great importance to the customs and traditions of their country which has seen traders from Africa and Europe meet here for over 3,000 years. It has often been described as the 'land of dreams', with miles and miles of sandy white beaches, endless turquoise sea and most of all around 300 days of glorious sunshine. With over 1 million date palms swaying in the breeze, dazzling white houses, well kept towns and beautiful countryside the appeal is endless. Djerba has a pedigree of good climatic conditions rarely found elsewhere and makes this an ideal sailing & kiting venue and perfect for a family holiday.

The Spot & Sailing Conditions

The sailing is located on a 2km long, wide, white sand beach. With 100 meters of waist-deep water this is an ideal location for beginners and intermediates with wind conditions that are never too strong. The launch is directly in front of the centre with zoned areas for swimmers, kites and windsurfers. For the advanced windsurfers and kites, there is a small breaking swell that can create many challenges. It is the ideal spot for tuition in the first steps of kiting. For youngsters and beginners, the shallow blue sea is a haven to gain confidence where the wind is constant and never too strong, especially in the summer time. During the spring and autumn stronger wind conditions, up to 4-6Bft, make this a high quality destination.
